King Line Triple Lion

The Triple Lion series is based on a magnificent castle in the desolate wilderness. It's here that the Triple Lion king rules, not only as a king but also as a formidable knight. The three golden lions are the king and castle's coat of arms: a lion for courage, a lion for honour and a lion for hope. Together the three golden lions create an almost impervious community that carries on the history and legend of Triple Lion for generations to come.

Viking Line Harald

The Viking Series has its roots in Danish Jutland in the year 800, where the most famous Nordic Viking chief, Harald, lived. Harald was not just a feared warrior who protected his clan, he was also an experienced sailor who travelled far and wide. He brought huge treasures home as well as stories about foreign people whose ability to fight would make every Viking laugh out loud. Harald's raids made the world live in fear of the Vikings and his legacy lives on today.

Liontouch Philosophy

www.liontouch.com

Here at Liontouch we think that sword play comes as naturally to children as kicking a ball.

Throughout history children have wielded swords in imaginary battles and fought off make-believe enemies.

It is with that in mind that we believe our active fantasy toys represent at once a truly classic and yet very modern play experience that will appeal to children everywhere.

King Line Kingmaker

The Kingmaker helps to decide who the next king will be. Thinking of the nation's welfare, the Kingmaker uses their political, economic or military means to influence who will be the nation's head of state. The Kingmaker originally comes from England in the area around Warwick but now works all over the world to ensure his country's future.

Knight Line Maltese

www.liontouch.com

The Maltese Series has its origins in the order of knighthood that was entrusted with Malta in 1530. Their duty was clear: they had to protect European landowners against sea-robber states. Throughout the centuries the order of knighthood protected Malta and preserved its sovereignty. Today, the knights are simply called Maltese Knights and the story of their heroic deeds and ideas lives on today.

Knight Line Amber Dragon

The Amber Dragon Series is for knights who are not afraid of dragons. The dragon has its name from its characteristic red colour which is reminiscent of glimmering amber. Dragon knights need to have their equipment in order when working with an Amber Dragon and protecting their castles. Although dragons can be useful when fighting the enemy, they are also unpredictable and difficult to tame – and the amber dragon is no exception.

The Roman Series has its origins in Ancient Rome, where law and order were the key words underpinning the Roman Empire. The Romans were known for their ability to organise, which their army of highly trained and disciplined warriors can also confirm. As a soldier in one of the most successful empires in global history, you bore your equipment with pride and certainty of the greatness that you would defend at any cost.

Knight Line Golden Eagle

The Golden Eagle Series concerns an ancient knight clan who fought the battle of the century ages ago. The knights' castle was under attack and it seemed that they would not be able to ward the attack off, when suddenly a golden eagle appeared out of the blue and attacked the enemy's army commander. In a moment of confusion and chaos the knight clan counterattacked, turning the battle on its head. The knight clan has been known as Golden Eagle since then and no one has ever tried to attack a Golden Eagle since.

Captain Cross is a tough pirate who you do not want to mess with. His name stems from his motif - a skull and crossbones with two sabres crossing blades. Before the captain became a pirate, he was an admiral for a large navy, so he knows better than anyone how to keep the canons clean and the crew in place. Captain Cross is notorious on the seven seas for his countless raids and his many golden treasure chests that are buried across the globe.

The Liontouch Process

Feathered at point for flexibility to ensure safety.

Our understanding of product development and control of the entire process, from concept to final production, is what makes Liontouch exceptional. Since we first started making swords and shields in 1995, we have become the industry leader in the quality foam toys category.

All Liontouch products start as an idea. We then conceptualize it by making hand drawings until we settle on a final design. The manufacturing then takes place in China at one of our long-term factory partners. They carefully cut the shape out of the foam block, silk screen print them and glue the layers together for optimal stability.

After quality control and safety test, the products are shipped to Denmark, from where we distribute them all over the world together with our wholesalers and partners. All so that a happy child somewhere will have a quality toy from Liontouch that will spark their imagination and last for a long time.

Fencing weapons; épée, foil and sabre

The foundation of Liontouch has always been a passion for fencing. Therefore, it's only natural that we now introduce three fencing weapons as foam toys for children. These are Epee, foil and sabre. These foam toys are designed to look exactly like the real deal, specifically aimed at the fencing community, readying the next champions.

Liontouch and sustainability

At Liontouch we care about your child's development, but also about the world your child is living in. Since beginning in 1995, we have designed products intended to last. Thereby we have set our toys apart from others less durable and that soon create the need for a new toy.

In the creation of new product lines we always try to consider the impact on the environment. We will strive to use environment-friendly materials and processes wherever possible and we will do this while maintaining the high quality of Liontouch's design and safety – a challenge that we take on with relish!
